

November 2006: FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Manpower chooses Bond International Software in $12m global deal

(Bond International Software plc., United Kingdom.) Bond International Software, the world's leading supplier of specialist recruitment software solutions, announced today that the Company had been chosen by Manpower to deploy its pioneering Adapt software as the basis for Manpower's global front office system throughout the world-wide network of 4,400 offices in more than 70 countries. The deal, worth up to $12m over five years, has been awarded to Bond following an in-depth technical and functional review.

The decision is based on several key criteria; primarily, Adapt's multi-lingual support allows any number of languages to be embedded within one database and all text can be presented in the native language and character set of the specific user wherever they may be. In addition, Adapt is fully platform and database independent, scalable and configurable, with comprehensive self-service features. Thirdly, Bond is the largest and most experienced provider of staffing software solutions world-wide, with 30 years experience, a global support presence and thousands of clients in more than 40 countries.

"These robust and versatile capabilities place the Adapt suite of software at the cornerstone of most of the world's leading staffing companies" explains CEO Steve Russell. "This important responsibility is underpinned by our continuous program of product and service development."

"We are honored to partner an organization that has been at the forefront of managing human resources for over 50 years, and we look forward to the challenge of helping them continue to improve standards through the international employment services industry."
